STATEMENTS DO YOU THINK IS TRUE OF MARIN COUNTY?

1. WE HAVE MORE ANXIOUS,
OBSESSIVE HELICOPTER PARENTS.

2. WE HAVE MORE CHILDREN WITH MENTAL HEALTH ISSUES.

3. STATEMENT 2 IS DIRECTLY RELATED TO STATEMENT 1.

WE'RE PROUD TO ANNOUNCE WE'RE NOW FUNDING HEALTH PROGRAMS.

Let's get this straight: parenting is hard, we understand. The world can be a scary place, and guiding a child through it can be a stressful, all-consuming task. And, well, it's important to help some parents ease off the throttle a little bit, adjust altitude, and take a positive approach to a perfect landing for Marin kids' health and happiness. Giving you the means to help do just that, well, it's kind of what we do. Improving literacy, technology and the arts for all of the 34,345 kids of Marin — we've been attacking that but now we're adding mental and physical health to our roster. And who are we exactly? We're SchoolsRule and we're here, with your help, to make a difference in the lives of the kids — each and every one of them — in Marin County.

We're what happens when you take a group of dedicated public school foundations, put them hand-in-hand with the Marin County Office of Education and then sit back and watch as they work their tails off to ensure that there isn't a kid roaming a school hallway from Sausalito to Novato or from San Rafael to Tomales who isn't being given the very best opportunities. It's simple: you donate money to a great cause, SchoolsRule takes that money and divides it up based on a per-student basis and then sprinkles it evenly over the whole of the county. It's not just a good idea, it's an idea that works, time and time again.

If our kids want to see a helicopter, let's take them to an air show. The rest of the time, let's balance the rotors, fly just a touch higher and give the kids of Marin County the space to grow up happy and healthy.
